TUESDAY MORNING, JUNE 16, 1908.

"THE LINE IS BUSY."

GOMPERS DEMANDS HIS PLANK BE ACCEPTED.

It is Regarded by Delegates as Sinister Reflection Upon Highest Courts.

Cannon Declares Anti-Injunction Proposition Is Nothing But Sop to Organized Labor and a Contentible Straddle—First Fight Over Platform to Come in Resolutions Committee Today.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, June 15.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] On the eve of the Republican National Convention, with the fight for the Presidency settled, Taft assured of nomination on the first ballot and the Vice-Presidential race narrowed down to two men—Dalliver and Fairbanks—the most striking feature is the attitude of organized labor toward the convention and the Republican party.

Sam Gompers, representing the American Federation of Labor, has written a plank for the Republican platform which he demands shall be incorporated therein.

Joseph G. Cannon, Speaker of the House, and still tentative candidate for the Presidential nomination, is leading the fight on this Gompers proposition, known as the anti-injunction plank.

"This proposed plank is nothing but a sop thrown to organized labor, and a poor sop at that," said Uncle Joe with all the vigor of emphasis of which he is famously capable. "It commits the Republican party to enacting legislation that will play fair to one class and foul to another. At best it is but a straddle. I never have given my sanction to a straddle, and I never will so long as I remain in public life."

This fairly represents the attitude of hundreds of delegates to the convention which opens tomorrow. They resent Gompers's insolent demand for special consideration, and feel that the most careful consideration should be given to the possible effect of the proposed plank before the Republican party is committed to it.

GOMPERS'S DEMANDS.

At the close of the meeting of the executive council of the American Federation of Labor, late in the afternoon, Sam Gompers said he was ready to appear before the Resolutions Committee of the convention, and it is understood the labor union demands will be presented to the committee some time tomorrow.

While Gompers, who is the spokesman of the members of the labor council, refused to give out the draft, or the substance of its contents, it is known the document contains three leading features. Each of the three demands is accompanied by lengthy explanation of the reasons why labor insists on their incorporation in the platform.

The three demands of labor, in substance, are as follows:

A clear and unequivocal declaration against the abuse of the injunction in labor cases, with a declaration against the issuance of injunctions in cases involving the right of labor organizations to strike and picket.

A statement of the reasons why labor insists on their incorporation in the platform.

An amendment to the Sherman anti-trust law to exempt labor unions and agricultural and horticultural associations from the penalty of the law, and to exclude them from the category of trusts and combinations of capital organized for the production and distribution of commodities. A clear statement of the difference between labor and business organizations and the so-called trusts and industrial and business enterprises.

An elective Federal Judiciary.

"When will you appear before the Resolutions Committee?" Gompers was asked tonight.

"The executive council of the American Federation of Labor is ready to go before the committee at the first opportunity," answered he.

"Does the anti-injunction plank of the committee meet with your approval?"

"It decidedly does not meet with my approval. I have given it absolutely no thought because the plank, as I read it in the newspapers, was not thought-provoking from the standpoint of organized labor."

In discussing Speaker Cannon's arrival in Chicago and his attitude of opposition to any sort of anti-injunction plank in the platform, Mr. Gompers said:

"When Cannon states at this time that he will fight the proposition of inserting an anti-injunction plank, he simply reaffirms his position on that matter. The labor unions know Cannon's stand."

CANNON GETS BUST.

"Uncle Joe" went the day at the Union League Club conferring with convention leaders and hatching plans to thwart the anti-injunction plank. In the evening he went to the Auditorium with Congressman McKinley and attended the conference of the resolutions subcommittee of nine, on the labor plank.

The reports that "Uncle Joe" was wrought up over the proposal to copy the plank into the platform, and that he was in a state of nervous tension, were not confirmed.

CHICAGO IS JAMMED WITH NOISY CROWDS.

Belated Convention Enthusiasm Finally Puts in Appearance Big Show is On Streets—Hotels Blaze With Lights and Celebrities.

BY HARRY C. CARR.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, June 15.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Down in the lobby of the Auditorium Annex, an old delegate carrying the weight limit of badges and other junk, including a souse, is standing on a table trying to slug "Comrades" in a cracked voice. About a thousand other delegates are bumping and surging around the lobby uproariously cheering him. The street outside is like a fete night in Los Angeles.

A red-eyed, grouchy, and very much insulted, live elephant being led up and down in front of the hotel. Pictures of Taft are plastered all over his fat back, and a yelling crowd is following him down the street.

For more than a mile, Michigan avenue is a seething river of people, the fashion and upper crust of the country bumping and elbowing down the line. Among the paraders are the Princess Alice and Mr. Longworth.

Almost as far as you can see down the street the lights of innumerable autos are bobbing and flashing as the traffic files by, directed by the perfect skill of the Chicago crossing police.

The women are dressed in Chicago style, with candied gowns and hats that look like a public park. These new gowns may be somewhat confining, but, believe me, they've got lines and style.

CELEBRITIES IN EVIDENCE.

All kinds of celebrities are there. Twain of the Ways and Means Committee struggles heroically through for a while with two ladies then breaks out of the stream and calls a cab, attracting the attention of the careless josh by a crack on the wheels with his cane, and they go sailing off.

Gov. Sheldon of Nebraska, a ruddy-faced giant under a black slouch hat, goes rocking through the jam on the way to his headquarters. He stops to talk to a reporter who asks about his candidacy for Vice-President. "Don't you lose any sleep over that," says the Governor, with a grin. "Nothing in it."

Senator Chauncey Depew comes trending along with the grace and elegance of a highly bred tomcat. The Senator has an awful frown on his face. Says it is all programmed and boxed and sealed.

"Why, you're pessimistic, Senator," said some one today. "No, I'm instructed," replied Depew.

Along comes John Hays Hammond, the highest salaried man who ever ran for Vice-President, and got left. He is smoking a $20,000 cigar and talking to Michael Henri de Young, who is gesticulating madly with both hands, doubtless explaining again why he

HERRICK SUGGESTED FOR CHAIRMAN.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.]

CHICAGO, June 15.—A new name was presented today for the permanent chairman of the National Committee to manage the coming campaign in the person of ex-Gov. Myron T. Herrick of Ohio.

The name of ex-Gov. Herrick was most favorably received in influential quarters, as he occupies the leading place on the Ohio delegation, which has been in the vanguard of the Taft movement, and is a close personal friend of Mr. Taft.

Much pressure has been brought to bear in former Gov. Herrick's behalf by members of the Ohio delegation.

SECRETARY OF AGRICULTURE TRYING TO SOLVE PROBLEM.

Sends Expert to Northern Russia and Siberia in Hopes of Finding Food Which Will Support More Cattle Than Our Present Foods Support.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.]

WASHINGTON, June 15.—To increase the supply of beef, and thereby lessen its cost to the American household, is one of the principal objects underlying the efforts of the Department of Agriculture to secure a product that will thrive in the semi-arid regions of the Northwest.

Beef and beef products are said to have reached the highest prices recorded in twenty years, and the dealers claim that this is due to the scarcity of cattle.

It is to increase the supply of beef by increasing the prodigious belt in the West that the Department of Agriculture has again sent N. F. Hansen of Brookings, S. D., to make a thorough investigation of the plant life of Northern Russia and Siberia.

Prof. Hansen will visit the sections of Northern Europe and Asia where climatic conditions are similar to those of the semi-arid lands of Wyoming, Colorado, Montana and the Dakotas. It is an alfalfa or clover can be found which will withstand these climatic conditions, a hundred head of cattle could be grazed upon the land now required by ten.

CLUB WOMEN JUNKETING.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 15.—Fourteen of the most prominent clubwomen of this city and other points in the State left here this morning in a special car bound for Boston, to attend the biennial meeting of the National Federation of Women's Clubs, to be held there from June 21 to June 26.

Mrs. J. B. Hume, State president of the California Federation of Women's Clubs, heads the party, which will reach Boston Saturday.

WILL SET RECORD.

Convention Is to Be Unique.

Predicted It Will Be But Methodical Execution of Established Plans.

While Crowds Create Din on Streets, Leaders Perfect Their Programme.

Great Body Will Be Called to Order by Julius Caesar. Burrows This A.M.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.]

CHICAGO, June 15.—The eve of the Republican National Convention finds Chicago on the tip of anticipation, with final preparations well matured for candidates and platform, except the ever-doubtful Vice-Presidential, and with the whole city astir with those tumultuous scenes which usher in a national convention.

Tonight the streets are ablaze with lights; Flag Day has brought forth a wealth of color on the tall buildings, hands vie with glee clubs in the packed headquarters of candidates and in the open air; marching clubs in fantastic regalia parade the main thoroughfares, singing "Taft, Taft," or "Knox, Knox," and there is that universal pandemonium which betokens the night before a national convention.

The main force of the invading army is now here—leaders and followers, delegates and rank-and-file, marching clubs and glee clubs, bands and drum corps.

The last of the State delegations, from the far South, came in tonight. LEADERS STILL AT WORK.

But while the din proceeds without, the final preparations of the leaders proceed within. Their plans are well laid, probably with better precision than has ever been known before a national convention has met, and unless the unexpected happens an air of the stampedess class from its groves, the convention of 1908 will establish a record for the methodical execution of well-established plans.

Tomorrow will see the convention assembled within the vast Coliseum building, with the first flow of conventional eloquence from the western Senatorial orator, Julius Caesar Burrows, and the first opportunity to greet the name of Roosevelt, Taft, Knox, or some other favorite with an ear-splitting and sight-bewildering demonstration, breaking all records for volume and duration.

Senator Burrows arrived today, his shaggy beard much whiter than when he last attended a national convention. In view of the reports that the Senator's speech omits a tribute to President Roosevelt, it is being conjectured tonight that the Senator will conjure from the prepared text, but, whether he does or not, the pent-up enthusiasm is sure to find expression tomorrow in a vociferous demonstration.

With Mr. Burrows, arrived Asher C. Hinds, the Indiana parliamentarian of Congress, who will stand at Mr. Burrows's elbow to weather any storm that may blow. Hinds was with Speaker Reed during the turbulent days of his iron rule, then with Speaker Henderson, and is now with Cannon. His genius is for immediately solving the knottiest parliamentary tangle, and should the unexpected stampede show his head tomorrow, Hinds will be relied upon to throw against it the full force of precedent and established procedure.

TWO DAYS OF SUSPENSE.

After the preliminary gathering to-morrow, there will be a period of suspense for practically two days, during which the committees will meet and the organization be perfected, so that the actual nomination of the President is not liable to occur before Thursday.

The business of today has been divided chiefly between the canvassing of States for selection of officers and representatives on the various committees—Platform, Credentials, National Committee, etc. These selections by the States have a decisive influence in determining the complexion of the various controlling committees of the convention.

The caucuses today left little room to doubt that the Taft forces would be in substantial control of the organization when the full committees were assembled.

Among the more important State conferences of the day were those of Ohio, Iowa, Indiana and New York, as each had some bearing on the perplexing question of the Vice-Presidential.

Each of these gatherings brought forth the odd negative conclusion of declaring not to be in favor of any candidate for the Vice-Presidential. Ohio because the Taft leaders do not wish to be in the attitude of declaring New York because of jealousy of Sherman or Low or any other New Yorker might impugn the loyalty to Gov. Hughes; Iowa because the State wants Dooliver to remain where he is in the Senate and thus avoid a hard-core of State politics; Indiana because long distance persuasion has not induced Mr. Fairbanks to change his attitude toward the first and second places on the ticket.

Other State caucuses were equally fruitless in solving the Vice-Presidential mystery, which deepens as

MISSISSIPPI LEVEE BREAKS.

Yields to Pressure of Water Opposite Alton, Ill.

Missouri Taken Almost Completely Under Water.

Two Men Are Drowned at Glasgow, Mo.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
ST. LOUIS (Mo.) June 15.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) The levee across the river from Alton, Ill., which guards the farm of John Scheuchlenberg, went out with a roar at 4 o'clock this morning, and Scheuchlenberg and ten men, who had worked frantically all night to save it, were forced to flee for their lives.

Two thousand acres of land was flooded by the break, and hundreds of cattle were drowned. Crops in the flooded section are all ruined. The dyke at this point showed signs of weakness since the water reached the danger stage, and men have been watching it constantly. At midnight Saturday the water began to creep over the top of the levee. The laborers fortified it with sacks of sand and rock, and prepared to get to a place of safety when the break came. They were forced to take to boats to escape. Farmers in the vicinity of St. Charles, Mo., on the Missouri River, are heavy losers, and the damage will exceed a million dollars. The Showers family was driven from home early this morning, and had to wade waist deep through the water to escape.

About one hundred members of the alumni of the College of Liberal Arts, University of Southern California, will sit at the annual dinner, which is to be spread at the Lankershim Thursday evening.

Our Windows Offer Many Hints of Value to Those Who Would Have Artistic Homes

Important Furniture News

¶ We have just completed our inventory—one of those annual events which brings to light every odd piece of furniture, every broken set, every pattern which has been discontinued by the maker—in fact, every short line, not only in furniture, but in the Drapery Department, as well.

¶ In such a large stock as carried here, the aggregate of these odd pieces, broken sets, etc., becomes very great—in this case numbering more than a thousand articles of furniture, in addition to the many short lots, portieres, tapestries, etc., in the Drapery Section.

¶ It is our policy never to permit the accumulation of broken lines, or of goods which cannot be regularly duplicated—except of individual or exclusive character.

¶ There will consequently be found at this time throughout our entire furniture stock, hundreds and hundreds of articles upon which have been placed what we are pleased to call "discontinued" tags, carrying decisive price reductions, ranging from a quarter to a third off regular value.

¶ The offering of these extra values makes it most unwise for any furniture seeker to purchase elsewhere before first carefully looking through our stock. Earliest selections will naturally be most advantageous. We invite the critical furniture connoisseur as well as the keenest judge of values.

To The Public—

You are cordially invited to inspect our exchanges at 716-722 South Olive Street and 246 South Hill Street, Thursday, June 18th, 1908, from 10:00 a. m. to 4:00 p. m.

At South Olive Street will be shown the new automatic apparatus, and at South Hill Street will be shown the old style or manual switchboard. We hope you will visit both exchanges as a comparison between the old and the new method will be interesting.

Expert telephone people will be in attendance to explain both systems.
Very respectfully yours,

WASH. POST, June 11, 1935
The game was a close one, with the home team leading 2-1 at half time. The visiting team made a strong comeback in the second half, but the home team held on to win 3-2.
The game was played in front of a large crowd, and the atmosphere was very exciting. The home team's victory was a morale booster for the players and fans alike.
The game was a real test of the players' skills, and the home team's victory was a well-deserved one. The visiting team played very well, but the home team's defense was too strong for them.
The game was a real highlight of the season, and the home team's victory was a great achievement. The visiting team's performance was also very good, but they were not able to overcome the home team's defense.

certains have so far rejected all overtures for a compromise. The speaker in caucus today decided to support W. H. Adams, State Senator from Contra Costa county, for temporary chairman of the convention. The Patterson contingent will not oppose this selection.

State Chairman Milton Smith called the convention to order, and announced that the speaker delegation had been placed on the temporary roll. W. H. Adams was chosen temporary chairman without opposition.

Senator Patterson and Ben Hilliard of the contesting Denver delegation attempted to gain recognition for the purpose of stating their position, but were ruled out of order by the chair. The convention adjourned until 2 o'clock p.m.

Upon reconvening, three hours after the time set, the convention listened to arguments from representatives of each side to the Denver contest. The roll was called on the majority report of the Credentials Committee, the vote resulting in: Ayes, 422; nays, 19, thus seating the speaker delegation. The convention then made the temporary organization permanent, and adjourned until tomorrow morning.

WAGES INCREASED.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—A parole post agreement between the United States and France was signed today by Postmaster-General Meyer and Ambassador Jusserand of France.

Metals Coming Home.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—Secretary Metcalf called on the President today, prior to leaving for his home in California. He will leave Washington late this evening, and will not stop at Chicago for the convention. He said he was not and would not be a candidate for the Senate or for any other office.

HUNTING FOR MURDERERS.

Attorneys for Ray Lamphere Still Believe Mrs. Gunness is Alive, and Hope to Find Her.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.) LAFORTE (Ind.) June 15.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) Tenaciously clinging to the theory that Mrs. Gunness, the murderer, is alive, the attorneys for Ray Lamphere today decided to appeal to the Mexican government for further information concerning the reported appearance in that country of the murderer, who is said to be traveling about the country in male attire seeking a place of hiding.

They are hopeful of securing a definite lead sufficiently large to warrant the sending of detectives into the Mexican country and other places where Mrs. Gunness is reported to have been seen, as the finding of Mrs. Gunness means a big victory for the defense.

BUREAU OF SOILS TO WITHDRAW FROM CALIFORNIA.

Chamber of Commerce of Stockton Notified by Congressman Needham That Experiments Will Be Discontinued in This State—No Cause for Move Is Given.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.) STOCKTON, June 15.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) The Chamber of Commerce was notified today that the Bureau of Soils at Washington, D. C., had decided to cease all operations in California and withdraw from this State for the time being.

Congressman Needham sent this information, and all efforts to discover the cause of the move tonight proved futile.

Just why the bureau decided to discontinue operations in California is a mystery, as extensive preparations had been made to conduct experiments in this locality for several years. It was through the direct efforts of the Stockton Chamber of Commerce that $20,000 more than ever heretofore appropriated for this particular department was set aside this year by Congress.

The Bingham syndicate donated ten acres of land on the islands for experiments, especially to discover a remedy for “potato sick” land.

Those directly interested will make an effort to have the experiments continued.

BANK WILL LIQUIDATE.

Will Sell Its Assets to New Bank to Be Started in San Francisco.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.—A.M.) LONDON, June 15.—At a special meeting here today of the shareholders of the London, Paris and American Bank, which has a capital of $5,000,000, it was decided to voluntarily liquidate the concern.

Nearly 90 per cent. of the capital of the bank now being wound up is held in California, and the desirability of reconstructing the company under American laws has been urged by the larger shareholders.

TO HAVE COALING STATION.

CITY OF MEXICO, June 15.—At a cost of about $400,000, just appropriated by the National Congress of Mexico, the republic is to have her first coaling station at the Port of Manzanillo, on the Pacific Coast. Both houses approved the contract, and President Diaz has signed the act.

Unidentified Suicide.

Unknown who ended his life yesterday by drinking carbolic acid at Elysian Park.

PARK SUICIDE.

Young Man Swallows Carbolic Acid Under Elysian Trees—Body not identified.

Lying in the grass beneath a big oak tree, the body of an unidentified man was found yesterday morning by visitors in Elysian Park. Death had evidently resulted from carbolic acid, taken with suicidal intent. A small bottle that had contained the deadly drug was found near the body.

The man had removed from his pockets every scrap of paper that might have been used in his identification. He had even cut the laundry marks from his linen.

Two women found the body. They notified the park officers. The body was removed to the Paul untrunking parlors, where an inquest will be held today.

The dead man was about 22 years of age. He had brown hair, light eyes and was smooth-shaven. His features were regular. He wore a dark gray suit, a new derby hat, and black shoes that bore a Florida sale mark.

He had been seen frequently about the park, and it is thought he lived somewhere in the vicinity. The police are attempting to identify the man by the markings of his teeth. He had a gold crown on one of his upper teeth, and another was framed with a gold band.

CHEERFUL.

"DON'T WORRY," SAYS CARLSON.

BANKER SAYS ATTACKS ON HIM ARE UNWARRANTED.

Back from Trip, Full of Confidence, Asserting Buyers of Lots Are Safe in Investments—Employs Counsel to Meet Charges Which May Be Made.

William H. Carlson returned to Los Angeles Sunday evening and was at his bank in the Chamber of Commerce building at 8:30 o'clock yesterday morning, remaining an hour and a half to confer with a number of lot buyers and the depositors or lot buyers in the Redondo Villa tract, and with depositors in the bank.

"I am glad to be back," said Carlson. "As you see, I have got back all right and have engaged former Gov. H. J. Polley as my attorney. In addition to Woodruff & McClure, to look after the legal end of the attacks which have been made upon me in my absence. I showed up at the bank this morning and greeted everybody and some of the depositors or lot buyers but were happy to see me.

"I regret the attacks were made upon me in my absence, which I consider unequalled and unwarranted. The lot buyers were cheered by the news that we have paid over $400,000 for land, railroads, waterworks, street grading and other improvements and that we have paid over $175,000 on land contracts alone, of which $47,000 was to my friend, George H. Peck, whose cooperation and friendship I have enjoyed, and I feel confident that he and the others where lands were bought will continue to stand behind us, as it is to their interest as well as ours.

"The total amount of our sales is $600,000 for 11,000 lots at Redondo, and lot-buyers can have every confidence in the success of our undertaking and the safety of their investment.

"All depositors who called this morning were happy to see me and did not seem worried about their deposits. There never was a run on the bank at any time and there is $525 in the bank at this time."

Carlson explained the cause of his delay in returning to Los Angeles by stating that a business trip to Torreon, Coahuila, Mex., was responsible for it.

"If it had only been known that I was in Mexico I suppose it would have been said that I had skipped and was a fugitive," added Mr. Carlson with a hearty laugh, "and that is about as much foundation as there was for a lot of assertions made."

Carlson will hold his first conference with the bank commissioners today, hopes to quickly straighten out the tangle into which the affairs of his bank have fallen.

Flavoring the Egg.

The egg was flavored with violet. "No," said a guest, pushing away his egg-cup. "I can't say I like it, but it was an Easter novelty, and, therefore, of some interest."

"Mine is flavored with mint," said a debutante. She, too, pushed back her egg-cup.

"Mine's rose."

"Mine's vanilla."

"Mine's heliotrope."

So spoke the other guests, and the delighted hostess explained:

"It is the latest thing. An Easter egg this year isn't worth shying at a bad actor, if it wasn't flavored with jamine or something. It is awfully shells, you see, are very porous. So you just line your egg basket with rose or with violet, and you have your next day rose or violet eggs. Or you may cook your egg in jamine or heliotrope cologne, and the result is an egg of even stronger flavor.

HOROSCOPE
Tuesday, June 14.
Like men at arms the morning of the month day of the year. Mercury with Venus and Neptune, and the moon is in the sign of Cancer.

Not a day when fortune may favor. Avoid all undertakings, especially those of a financial nature. Capricious marks this period, therefore, to pushing these things in hand, and whose destiny is uncertain.

Though it is thus unfavorable, the routine affairs of the day will be pleasant.

There is promise of opportunity with pen or machine. Good for domestic affairs. Business, alter or make over dresses, suits, etc.

Let the woman with this horoscope have a social ambition that will lead her to a superior position. If in employment, let her strive against a superior.

The man with this horoscope has a business dispute that will be pushed, or in loss of employment, or in loss of employment.

The girl born today will be a success in opinion. Opposition will meet the boy born today, and his talents are properly developed, a great success.

Garments Made to Measure
Many women cannot be fitted in ready-to-wear garments; others prefer to select particular suit or dress patterns and have them made up after their own ideas. To such people we can be of great assistance in the making-to-measure of skirts and whole suits.

We make to order skirts of any style, from newest models, at an exceedingly small cost, always, of course, guaranteeing first-class workmanship and style.
Plain tailored suits for street wear, in latest styles, made up, material furnished, for as little as $29.50 and higher.
Outing suits to order; motoring and touring coats; in fact, any sort of tailored garments can be made up at very modest cost, and in superior manner.

Women's Sweaters $2

Good for wear at beaches or upon the mountain trip you intend taking. Compare them with others at twice the price, if you like; they're good in every respect.
Blouse effects with roll collars in gray, white and black; red sweaters in coat style; remarkably low-priced at . . . $2.00

Linen Suitings 35c

Just the materials best suited for outing suits or skirts at a very little price.
Linen and linen and cotton mixed suitings in plain colors, stripes, fancy checks, satins and voile weaves. 35c

Super of Park Lane.

By William LeQueux

(Copyright, 1935, by William LeQueux.)

his jaw set, unable to utter a word.
The sudden unexpectedness of the tragedy had appalled him. He stood speechless. He could only point to the inanimate form upon the floor.
Max lifted the body and sought for signs of life. "There were, however, none. The bullet had penetrated his brain, causing instant death.
Statham's enemy—the man whom they had presumed was already in his coffin—was dead! Yet what was the meaning of it all? The whole affair was a conspiracy, long and why had Jean Adam, the adventurer who had lived by his wits for years and the hero of a thousand thrilling adventures, taken his own life beside his own coffin?"

Rolf and Barclay turned away from the scene, and in silence descended the stairs, where, standing back in the shadow, trembling like an aspen, stood old Levi.
As they passed down, the servant entered the room to join his master, with whispered words of awe.
Then, at the millionaire's suggestion,
when he descended to them five minutes later, Charlie went forth into Park Lane, and, walking hastily toward the fountain, found a constable whom he informed of the tragedy.

As he went back to the house with the policeman at his side, he wondered whether, after all, he had not mis-judged old Sam. In any case, there was a great and complete mystery which must now be elucidated.

Just outside the little old town of Arundel in rural Sussex at the top of the steep hill which leads on to the high road to Chichester, a road rendered dusty in summer and muddy in winter by the constant procession of motor cars which tear along it, stands Fordham Cottage, a small unpretentious red brick house, surrounded by a pretty garden, and divided from the road by a high old wall clothed completely in ivy.

It was in the afternoon of the previous day that the front parlor—for the owners of the house were two prim maiden ladies—stood Rolf and Barclay, waiting with the gray-haired, gray-bearded man who, having rented the place furnished, was living there in complete seclusion—Dr.
Michael Petrovitch.

They were in earnest conversation, but Charlie kept his eyes upon the window, as though in expectation of the arrival of some one. The autumn day was fine and dry, and Maud, returning from London by the first train, which had arrived at half-past six that morning, had, after luncheon, gone out upon her cycle as was her daily habit.
Her love, anxious and impatient, scarcely heeded what the doctor was explaining to Max.

For the past hour both men had been describing in brief what had occurred since the ex-Minister's disappearance from Cromwell Road, relating practically what had already been chronicled in the preceding chapter. They had told him of Adam's threats, of the warning given to Charlie by Lorena Lyle, of Adam's endeavor to entice Max to Constantinople and of Statham's evident terror of Adam's vengeance.
To it all the gray-bearded statesman had listened attentively.

Only when they described their secret visit to the house in Park Lane, and the extraordinary discovery they had made there, did their heavier evince surprise. Then, knitting his brows, he seemed as though he understood. And when they told him of Adam's suicide,
he drew a deep breath of apparent relief.

"That man," he said, in a low, distinct voice, with scarce a trace of accent—"that man was my enemy, as well as Statham's. It was he who, in order to further his speculative financial schemes, paid an assassin to throw a bomb at my carriage—the bomb that killed the poor little child! He was an adventurer, but he had killed money from widows and orphans—a scoundrel, and an assassin. The assassin, when he was in the forests at Belgrade, confessed to the identity of his employer. But in the meantime he disappeared—to South America, it is believed. Prior to the attempt upon my life, the mining engineer, was his cat's-paw, as he has ever since been—a good fellow at heart, but weak and at the same time treasturous. Once or twice they made big profits out of confessions for copper mining obtained from my predecessor in office. When Adam found that I refused to participate in business that was a fraud upon the public in Paris and London, he plotted to get rid of me. Fortunately he did not succeed; but when the truth was exposed to the Serbian government that he was the real assassin, certain valuable concessions were at once withdrawn from him, and he was thereby ruined. He bowed vengeance upon me, and also upon Statham—to whom the concessions had been transferred, a terrible vengeance, but soon afterward he disappeared, and we heard upon what seemed to be good authority that he was dead. He had been shot in a drunken brawl in Caracas.

"And he was suddenly turned up again—eh?" Max remarked.
"Yes; and for that reason Mr. Statham suggested that I and my daughter Maud should disappear to some place to which he could not trace us.
He threatened that if we disappeared in such a manner that the police would not seek us, it would be a fine step. For that reason I arranged that the furniture, as well as our selves, should disappear, in order to make it appear that we had suddenly returned, and also to prevent the police searching too intensively for missing persons." Had they done this, his hiding place would soon have been discovered. I disappeared more for Maud's sake, than for my own. I knew the desperate character of the man, and the mad vengeance within his villainous heart."
"But Statham also feared him," remarked Charlie, recollecting the occasion when his employer had been trayed such terror.
"Yes. The exact facts I do not know. He will tell you himself," answered the ex-Minister.
"Maud was in London last night,
and called upon Statham," Max remarked.
"She called in secret lest she might be seen and followed by Adam," her father replied. "She went there to return to Statham a sum of money
he had sent her."
"For what?"
"He wished to know the whereabouts of Lorena Lyle, who had been her schoolfellow in Belgrade. Statham I feared, in some way, to avenge himself upon Lyle—and on his daughter when she was living. The girl is in London, and he wished to know where she was living."
"And the money which she returned was given her in order to induce her to return?"
The doctor nodded in the affirmative, adding:
"You see that Statham, surrounded by mysterious enemies as he has been, was bound to act always for his own protection. He has been mis-judged—by you—by everybody. I who knew him more intimately, perhaps,
than any one save his own brother Levi, assure you that it is so."
"His brother Levi?" cried Charlie.

LOOK OUT FOR "POISON OAK"

Time is Here When You Need Some Remedy to Prevent the Disease.
Simple Wash is Recommended.

Several people in the valley have already reported the appearance of "Poison Oak." It is said to be more virulent this season than before. It attacks the arms and face with much greater vigor and the pustules form more quickly than ever before. The cause for this is said to be an excess of exceedingly fine pollen which has been discovered on nearly all of the "poison oak" vines.

A wash of wintergreen oil and other searching liquids has been found to be very effective in destroying the disease this year. This is D.D.D. Prescription, which was brought into the valley for the purpose of combating "Poison Oak" and Manila Itch, as well as eczema and other diseases of the skin. Medical authorities who have tried the remedy state that it has been found to check the disease in marvelously quick time.

Usually it doesn't take long for the running, sticky water pustules to form, and when once they begin to break and run the rest of the skin around the point of contact soon is affected and is seared, red and itching.

It has been found that when D. D.
D. is applied the pustules do not break out at all in many cases, and when they do appear they are dried up soon. Then after a few applications the disease disappears entirely.
Physicians have advised that it would be a good thing to have a bottle of D. D. D. ready for an emergency, for it may prevent a serious time with what everybody knows to be a most obnoxious disease.

If you will come into our stores for a moment some day, we will show you convincing evidence of what D.
D. D. has done. (Sun Drug Co.'s Stores.) If you call, we won't urge you to buy, but we will be glad to tell you about this remedy.
